INTRODUCING THE NEW 2016 ROYAL DOULTON FIGURES OF THE YEAR

Graceful, beautiful, feminine and enduring are just some of the reasons why Royal Doulton figurines are as popular in the 21st century as they were a hundred years ago. With design inspiration drawn from a multitude of contemporary and historic sources including fashion, dance and beauty, the annual figurines represent the essence of Royal Doulton. All the figurines in the annual collections are created by renowned British designers and are hand decorated by highly skilled artisans. Moreover, each year the fresh studies are destined to become the heirlooms of the future.

Designed by Neil Faulkner, Charlotte HN5772 is a graceful study of a young lady enjoying a summer stroll. Wearing a sun hat and holding a lacy parasol, this figure is full of the fine detail that Royal Doulton has become famous for. Glistening with subtle metallic highlights, Charlotte's beautiful blue gown includes a wrap-over bodice, a sash to the waist and full skirt sweeping over layers of petticoats. The handmade flowers on her hatband continue the sparkling theme with hand painted blue flowers with metallic centers.

Royal Doulton figurines combine three elements – movement, beautiful faces and positioning or poses of hand, arms and heads. It's the unique combination of this trio of features that ensures every figurine is elegant yet distinctive. Rosie HN5775, this year's Michael Doulton Figure of the Year continues this tradition. Rosie's vibrant deep pink gown, combines satin and sheer fabrics to create a fresh, contemporary style. A bold black bow accents her slender waist. Long strawberry blonde hair frames Rosie's beautiful face and she is poised to enjoy the company of friends and family at a summer garden party.

Abigail HN5773
of the Year

Abigail HN5773 has been inspired by the fresh vibrant colors of nature. An embroidered bodice and overskirt in green, drapes softly over a pale green dress, decorated with stylized bouquets of flowers. Abigail's strawberry blonde hair is styled in a low bun and is held in place by a platinum-finished hair comb. Fine platinum details also accentuate the modeling of the bodice.

Neil Faulkner's design for the 2016 Mother's Day Figure of the Year HN5771 recreates a precious shared moment as a mother and daughter prepare for their special day together. The mother wears a turquoise dress featuring a tightly fitted bodice and a multi-tiered skirt. A gold necklace and earrings accentuates her face as she tenderly thanks her daughter for the gift of a flower. The little girl wears a simple cream trimmed dress with a sash and banding to the hem in the same turquoise tone as her mother's dress. The little girl carefully holds a hand-made pink rose.

LADIES OF ENGLISH HISTORY

The first series that Royal Doulton artist, Peggy Davies created was a collection of eight figures known as Period Figures in English History. As the world became to expect from any Peggy Davies figure, the costumes were meticulously researched to the finest detail. This series of figures is unique in that it was the first of a long line of themed series produced by the Royal Doulton Studios. Today, the figures from this impressive collection are scarce in the marketplace because of their short production run (1948-1953) and the fact that production of decorative goods during this period were still recovering from the devastations of war.

EGYPTIAN QUEENS SERIES

Produced in a limited edition of 950

There have been many queens that reigned in ancient Egypt. Some reigned quietly while others took it upon themselves to bask in the glory of power. These powerful women tried to ensure their legacy would last an eternity, some intentionally, others accidentally. One fact is apparent among each of these queens: they rivaled their male counterparts, the pharaohs.

Made in fine bone china and accented with gold-gilt, each of the queens in this collection is a study in grace, elegance and femininity.
